A Reminder: Why We're Doing This

Our goal is to raise awareness and support for women, children, and families living in impoverished areas of India. These are people who continue to be marginalized by society through gender inequality and lack of access to education and basic healthcare, based solely on where they were born. They need our help.

A Family-Friendly Event for All Generations

Members of all levels of Share & Care — from Kids4Kids to the Young Professionals Committee, and more — are coming together to make this an event that empowers and engages the entire community. Will you join us?
