

HONORING A SYMPHONY OF RURAL WOMEN

Did you know that rural women make up a quarter of the world's population? Today, as we recognize International Rural Women's Day, we want to celebrate the resilience, courage, and vitality of the rural women in India — women like Sonal and Lubna, two Share & Care Women Empowerment program beneficiaries.

"I am grateful to Share & Care and Project Life for supporting me as a self-reliant, dignified, and confident woman."

—Sonal Chaudhary, who received 12 weeks of vocational training in embroidery through Share & Care. She was provided with her own embroidery machine and now earns a comfortable income from her new skills.

"I was shy and introverted earlier, but now I could feel that huge confidence, that new-born courage in myself."

—Lubna Qazi, who received leadership training and skill-building opportunities through Share & Care. She now trains others to develop their own skills, fostering newfound independence and confidence in her community.

Making Harmony a Priority

We're thrilled to share our upcoming gala event, set for Saturday, November 4th! Our theme, HARMONY FOR HUMANITY: UNITING GENERATIONS IN SERVICE, reflects our vision of orchestrating opportunities for marginalized individuals through our Signature Programs. Our program will feature the musical talents of Samir & Dipalee, India's favorite singing couple.

Tickets went on sale on October 1! By purchasing, you're not only securing your seat, you're supporting rural women across India.
